WILSON APPEALS TO THE MINERS TO RETURN TO WORK

Will Seek to Adjust Any Inequalities in the Wage Scale

BUT STRIKE MUST END

Complying With the President's Wishes, Miners' Head Will Order Men Back

Washington, July 30.—President Wilson, through the United Mine Workers of America, tonight, appealed to striking mine workers in Illinois and Indiana to return to work. Inequalities in the existing wage scale, held by the strike leaders to be the cause of the walk-out which has closed most of the bituminous mines in the two states, may exist, the President said. He added that he could not recommend correction of any inequalities until the strikers returned to their jobs, but that when they did so he would invite the joint scale committee of operators and miners to meet for the purpose of adjusting any such inequalities.

The President issued his appeal in the form of a telegram to the United Mine Workers of America after he had studied a report on the coal situation by Secretary of Labor Wilson.

"Distressed" by Strike Reports.

Reports of the strike of mine laborers, particularly in Illinois, the President said, had been received by him "with a feeling of regret and sorrow." He declared that he was distressed not only because failure at this time to mine coal in accordance with the terms of the existing contract would result in suffering during the coming winter, but also because "the violation of the terms of your solemn obligation impairs your good name, destroys the confidence which is the basis of all mutual agreements, and threatens the very foundations of industrial relations."

Pointing out that the United Mine Workers constituted the largest single labor organization in the world, the President said "no organization could long endure that sets up its own strength as being superior to society at large."

The President's telegram follows:

President Appeals to Miners.

"It is with a feeling of profound regret and sorrow that I have learned that many members of your organization, particularly in the state of Illinois, have engaged in a strike in violation of the terms of the award of the bituminous coal commission and your agreement with the government that the findings of the commission would be accepted by you as final and binding. I am distressed not only because your action in refusing to mine coal upon the terms which you have accepted may result in great suffering in many households during the coming winter and interfere with the continuation of industrial and agricultural activity, which is the basis of the prosperity which you in common with the balance of our people have been enjoying, but also, and what is of far more importance, because the violation of the terms of your solemn obligations impairs your good name, destroys the confidence which is the basis of all mutual agreements, and threatens the very foundation of fair industrial relations. No government, no employer, no person having any reputation to protect, can afford to enter into contractual relations with any organization which systematically or repeatedly violates its contract.

"The United Mine Workers of America is the largest single labor organization in the United States, if not in the world, but no organization can long endure that sets up its own strength as being superior to its plighted faith or its duty to society at large." It has in the past built up an enviable reputation for abiding by its contracts, which has been one of its most valuable assets in making wage agreements. It may now make temporary gains by taking advantage of the dire necessities of the balance of the people through the violations of these contracts but what of the future? How can it expect wage contracts with the employees to be continued in the face of violations when normal conditions have been restored and the country is free from the immediate shortage of coal? How will it be able to resist the claims of the operators in the future to take advantage of the precedent which the miners have established, and decrease wage rates in the middle of a wage contract under the plea that they are unable to sell the coal at the then existing cost of production?

Inflicting Injury on Selves.

"A mere statement of these questions ought to be sufficient to awaken the mine workers to the dangerous course they are pursuing and the injuries they are inflicting upon themselves and the country at large by the adoption of these unwarranted strike policies.

"In the consideration of the nationwide wage scale, involving many different classes of labor, by the bituminous coal commission in the limited time at its disposal, some inequalities

Christy Mathewson Under Treatment For Tuberculosis

Saranac Lake, July 30.—Christy Mathewson, veteran baseball player, manager and coach, has been at a sanitarium here for the past month undergoing treatment for tuberculosis. It was learned today.

Mathewson has been confined to his room since his arrival, has received no callers, and has been undergoing an absolute rest.

It is understood that his condition is not such as to cause any immediate alarm.

The famous pitcher and later manager of the Cincinnati National League club, came here immediately after leaving the New York National team, where he acted as coach.

may have developed in the award that ought to be corrected. I cannot, however, recommend any consideration of such inequalities as long as the mine workers continue to strike in violation of the terms of the award which they had accepted as their wage agreement for a definite length of time. I must, therefore, insist that the striking mine workers return to work, thereby demonstrating their good faith in keeping their contract. When I have learned that they have thus returned to work, I will invite in the scale committee of the operators and miners for the purpose of adjusting any such inequalities as they may mutually agree should be adjusted."

Men Will Be Ordered Back.

Indianapolis, July 30.—In compliance with the wishes of President Wilson, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, will issue a mandatory order instructing all miners now on strike in Indiana and Illinois to immediately return to work, so as to permit the normal operation of the mines, it was announced at miners' national headquarters here tonight.

The statement was issued after a conference had reported favorably on the President's telegram, which was received here tonight.

"I am profoundly impressed by the President's telegram," Mr. Lewis' statement said. "The suggestion of the President will be approved by every right-thinking and loyal member of the United Mine Workers of America."

SAYS LEAGUE IS DEAD ISSUE

"If It Were Not, I Should Want to Kill It," Farmer-Labor Candidate Asserts.

New York, July 30.—The league of nations is "nothing more than an attempt to establish an international bankers' soviet," according to Parley P. Christensen, presidential nominee of the third or Farmer-Labor party, who discussed his views on national and international affairs here today.

"The league of nations is a dead issue," said Mr. Christensen. "If it were not, I should want to kill it." Endorsement of Irish freedom was another point upon which the third party candidate expressed himself in a formal statement.

"I am one of those who is sufficiently in love with the principles of human freedom to come out squarely for recognition of the Irish republic," he said.

Referring to the attempt of Governor Cox and Senator Harding to persuade Tennessee to pass the equal suffrage amendment, he said:

"If Cox and Harding can't get ratification, I'll go down and try the rebels myself."

TANK STEAMER, THOUGHT VICTIM OF EXPLOSION, REPORTED SAFE

New York, July 30.—The tank steamer Keeluck, which left here for Port Lobos, Mexico, on July 26 and for which her owner had expressed fears that she was the unidentified steamer believed destroyed by an explosion off the New Jersey coast Tuesday morning, is safe, according to word received here today.

The vessel was off Palm Beach, Florida, at 11 o'clock last night, according to a wireless report from the vessel received at Charleston, S. C., and relayed here.

A radio message timed 1 o'clock this morning later was received by the owners, the Columbus Shipping company, from Captain Robertson. It read: "Passed Jupiter Lightship. All on board all right."

HOAX FAILS TO SAVE BOY FROM EXECUTION

Mind Unbalanced, Baron "Confessed" to Crime in Effort to Keep Hyatt from Chair

New York, July 30.—Overwork in college studies was advanced tonight as the explanation of the mysterious "confession" made last night by Robert Baron that he had killed the Rochester policeman for whose death Elmer Hyatt earlier in the evening was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison.

After "Baron" had admitted today to psychiatrists at Bellevue hospital that his confession was a hoax, his brother, A. P. Barranco, issued a statement in which he said that Baron's real name was Francis M. Barranco, a former college instructor, and that when he had returned recently to Brooklyn from Cuba, his family had been disturbed by "certain peculiarities in his conduct."

"Francis was a brilliant student at college and it is believed that overwork in his studies unbalanced his mind," said his brother. "He told members of his family who called upon him at the hospital today that he had brooded over the coming execution of the 18-year-old boy, and having failed to reach the authorities to obtain a stay of execution until public opinion could be brought to bear, he decided upon the unusual course which is now a matter of public knowledge."

Barranco added that Francis, who for a year taught Latin and Greek at an American university, would be sent to a sanitarium for treatment.

It was only after a long examination by Bellevue psychiatrists that Baron admitted he had tried to hoax the police. He said he had a deep interest in the Hyatt case, and that he had called on several ministers to induce them to exert influence to save the youthful murderer from the electric chair.

Baron refused, however, to give any information concerning himself or to explain why he was interested in Hyatt.

"Such a statement is absolutely without any foundation in fact," declared the governor. "The alleged telephone message to Sing Sing at the last moment was either a hoax or the action of a demented man."

The governor said there was absolutely no question about Hyatt's guilt. "His family and his attorney at a public hearing in Albany admitted that the boy killed the policeman," the governor asserted. "His attorney further admitted that he did not put him on the stand in his own defense because of his previous criminal record."

The governor quoted the presiding judge as saying that any verdict other than guilty would not have been justifiable under the evidence.

The district attorney, who prosecuted Hyatt, the governor added, was equally vigorous in his statement that executive clemency should not be extended.

MAN AND WIFE DIE WHEN AUTO CRASHES INTO TREE

Albion, July 30.—Harry VanVeleker, a Kalamazoo, Mich., real estate man, was instantly killed, and his wife received injuries from which she died, when their automobile swerved from the road at Mason's corners, near here, this afternoon, and crashed into a big maple tree. Their son, Claude, seven years old, was injured but is expected to recover.

The VanVelekers, who had been visiting in Springfield, Mass., had been called back to Kalamazoo by the serious illness of a relative and were hurrying toward Buffalo in an effort to catch the night boat for Detroit. The car was said to have been driven at a rate of about 45 miles an hour. Mrs. VanVeleker lived about ten minutes after the accident. The boy was brought to the Albion hospital.

MAN SHOT, 1,000 SHEEP KILLED, IN CLASH ON UTAH STATE LINE

Salt Lake City, July 30.—John Bonnell, a sheep herder, was shot, and more than 1,000 sheep were killed, early today in a clash between men said to represent Colorado cattle interests and Utah sheepmen. Just across the state line in Northwestern Colorado, according to a telephone message from Vernal, Utah county, Utah, this afternoon.

"DYING WOMAN" IS IGNORED.

Newark, N. J., July 30.—Through a room which the proprietor of a saloon told them a dying woman occupied, federal prohibition agents tonight forced their way and smashed padlocks and bolts on the door of an adjoining room, where whiskey, gin and wine valued at $10,000 were found. They were confiscated. A sick woman was found there, but her condition is not believed to be serious.

It was announced that the 52 search warrants issued had resulted in 49 raids in Newark, two in Orange and one in East Orange.

Irish Commander, Held By Sinn Feiners, Makes Escape

London, July 30.—Brigadier General C. H. T. Lucas, commander of the Fermoyle military area, who was kidnapped late in June by the Sinn Feiners, has escaped. He reached the Tipperary military barracks today, it is announced in Irish advices received here.

General Lucas was picked up by a military lorry near Cola, between Limerick and Tipperary. The lorry was later ambushed by Sinn Feiners and a desperate struggle ensued, in which two soldiers were killed and three others injured.

On the arrival of a second lorry, the raiders decamped, and General Lucas was taken to Tipperary.

The kidnapping of General Lucas, which occurred on June 27, was a dramatic affair. He was taken prisoner at a lonely spot some miles from Fermoyle by a large party of armed and masked men and conveyed to an unknown destination.

WEALTHY IRISH LEADER VICTIM OF ASSASSINS

Frank Brooke Shot Dead While Attending Meeting of Railroad Directors

Dublin, July 30.—Frank Brooke, wealthy country gentleman, close friend of Viscount French, the lord lieutenant, and member of a committee on Irish reconstruction appointed last year by the viceroy, was assassinated today.

Mr. Brooke was killed in the directors' room of the Dublin and South-eastern Railway in Westland Road, where he had gone to attend a meeting of the railroad's board of directors. Three assassins entered the room and fired at Brooke while he was talking with a Mr. Cotton, who is another director of the road and is also manager of the London and North-western railway. One of the shots entered Brooke's lung and he died immediately. Brooke carried a revolver, but had no time to use it. Other men had been left on guard outside the room during the shooting and the assassins escaped.

Mr. Brooke held large agricultural and commercial interests and was a frequent visitor at the vice regal lodge.

Brooke was a wealthy country gentleman and a close friend of Viscount French, the lord lieutenant, whom he visited frequently. Except for the fact of his close association with the viceroy, no particular reason for his assassination was apparent up to this afternoon.

Frank Brooke, killed in Dublin today, was chairman of the Dublin and South-eastern railway and had connections with other business and corporate interests in Ireland. Born in 1851, he joined the navy in 1865 and retired in 1877 as a lieutenant. He was keenly interested in sports and was a steward of the Turf club.

WIDOW IDENTIFIES BODY OF PHYSICIAN-DISH WASHER

New York, July 30.—Mrs. Elma Campbell, widow of Dr. Harry E. Campbell, formerly a prominent Pittsburgh, Pa., physician, who was found dead in a rooming house here last Sunday night where he had lived two years while working as a dish washer in a local restaurant, today identified his body at the morgue. She came here from Canada.

Mrs. Campbell said she and her daughter, a step daughter of the physician, left him three years ago because of his "eccentricity." She declared there was no reason why he should have been working as a dish washer as he was highly educated and had a lucrative practice in Pittsburgh. She attributed the unusual change in his vocation to his "eccentricity."

The body probably will be taken to Pittsburgh for burial.

MEXICO PREPARES TO PUT DOWN LOWER CALIFORNIA REBELLION

El Paso, Texas, July 30.—Mexican federal forces numbering several thousand men are being mobilized and moved against Lower California to put down the rebellion against federal authority by Governor Esteban Cantu, it was announced today by General P. Elias Calles, Mexican minister of war and marine, who is here en route to Torreon, Durango, to confer with Francisco Villa, the bandit concerning the latter's surrender.

19 PRISONERS PAROLED.

Ossining, July 30.—The state board of parole today announced the parole of Harold W. Sherrill, sentenced to Sing Sing prison for fraudulent operation of a Poughkeepsie brokerage firm of which he was a member. The firm failed for $956,000 after he was alleged to have swindled many Dutchess county investors. After his release, Sherrill will be taken to the Dutchess county jail to await trial on another indictment resulting from the operations of his firm.

Nineteen other Sing Sing prisoners also were paroled today.

DEMOCRATS ANXIOUS TO KEEP LEAGUE ISSUE IN BACKGROUND SENATOR HARDING DECLARES

But Nominee Promises
They Won't Be Permitted to Do So

COX AGAIN QUERIED

Republican Candidate Wants to Know His Attitude on Big Problems of the Day

ASSAILS FINANCING METHODS

Certain Powerful International
"Interests" Are Behind Democratic Campaign, He Says

Marion, Ohio, July 30.—Senator Harding prefaced his front porch campaign with a public statement, again asking Governor Cox for specifications of the Democratic stand on the league of nations and charging that "certain powerful international interests" concerned in President Wilson's foreign policy were preparing to finance liberally the Democratic campaign.

The Republican nominee declared it had become apparent that the Democratic campaign managers hoped to keep the league in the background as a political issue, but he promised they would not be permitted to do so.

"The more the Democrats attempt to get away from this issue," he said, "the more insistent the country will be to know what they intend to do if they are entrusted with the administration."

Cox Standing by President.

Referring to the conference at Dayton yesterday between Governor Cox and Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, a Democratic supporter of the Republican reservations to the peace treaty, Senator Harding said it was evident they had not agreed on Article X and that the Democratic nominee was standing by the President for ratification of the league without essential modifications.

The statement also rapped George H. White, the Democratic national chairman, for his criticism of the Republican plan to hold campaign contributions to $1,000 each, and predicted that by November the country would show its disapproval by unlimited campaign funds.

"Undoubtedly it is quite true," the Republican nominee continued, "that certain powerful international interests which are deeply concerned in carrying out the present administration's foreign policy are prepared to contribute most liberally to the Democratic funds."

"Undoubtedly it is true, too, that without such contributions the Democrats would find it very difficult to raise the funds they need."

The candidate did not reveal tonight whether he would make the league issue a feature of his front porch address here tomorrow but those in his confidence said he was prepared to follow up the fight with other public utterances in the near future. Tomorrow's address, which will open formally the front porch campaign, is to be delivered to a delegation from Mansfield, Ohio, and it has been indicated that it would be a general discussion of several issues.

Senator Harding's statement follows in full:

Senator Harding's Declaration.

"Our Democratic friends are having difficulty getting away from the embarrassing incident to their candidate's visit to the White House and the subsequent announcement that he and the President found themselves in entire accord.

"At the time of their conference, I addressed some questions to the Democratic candidate which he has not thus far seen fit to answer.

"One of them was whether in his conference with President Wilson he had pledged himself to the ratification of the treaty and league without essential modifications. Another was whether Article X had been accepted by him. Still further, I asked whether Governor Cox had undertaken, if elected, to renew the demand that this country take a mandate over Armenia. I asked whether Governor Cox had undertaken to maintain the administration's policy in the Adriatic, where their policy has already well nigh forfeited the friendship of the Italian nation, brought Italy to the verge of revolution, and almost wrecked the establishment of peace. I asked whether Governor Cox had pledged himself to insist as President Wilson has heretofore insisted, that Thrace shall be settled as Bulgaria desires, rather than as Greece desires.

"In short, I asked whether the Democratic nominee has taken over the various known and unknown commitments of the present administration's foreign policy in order to establish harmony between the President and Governor Cox.

"None of these questions has been answered either by Governor Cox or by any authorized spokesman for him. But there is accumulating evidence as to the Democratic attitude. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, a Democrat, declared that he was going to support the governor. According to the newspaper reports, the senator was asked about Governor Cox's decision regarding Article X and Senator Walsh said, 'that it was possible for him to agree with a candidate on nine out of ten issues and still support that candidate, even if they differed on the tenth proposition.'

Walsh Not Able to Agree.

"Thus it becomes apparent that Senator Walsh was not able to agree with Governor Cox's view on Article X. The only possible inference is that Governor Cox is maintaining the same attitude toward Article X that President Wilson has long maintained. Apparently the governor has given assurance to the President that if elected he will stand by the President's program. Otherwise, the governor would have been able to give Senator Walsh assurances that would have saved the latter from the uncomfortable necessity of admitting that they did not agree about Article X.

"There is further evidence that the Democratic nominee is obligated to stand for the foreign policy of the present administration. Mr. White, the new chairman of the Democratic committee, was interviewed in Washington yesterday and said 'progressivism to be the paramount issue of the campaign.' And later he added, 'progressivism necessarily carries with it the league of nations, and he indicated very plainly that the Democrats intended to attempt forcing other issues to the front to keep the public mind away from the fact that their candidate has given his pledge to support the Wilson policy towards the treaty and the league."

"It is perfectly understandable that the Democratic manager should desire to have the whole sorry business of Democratic foreign policy forgotten. But the country will not forget. The more the Democrats attempt to get away from this question, the more insistent the country will be to know what they intend to do if they are entrusted with the administration. It is as plain as daylight that 'accord' could not have been established by the President and the Democratic nominee except on condition that the latter assume all the liabilities of the President's program.

Democrats Want Ratification.

"No matter how it may be camouflaged or glossed over, it is more obvious every day that if the Democrats should win, their efforts would be to compel ratification of the league covenant without essential modifications. Senator Walsh's statement makes this perfectly plain. He admitted himself in disagreement with Governor Cox immediately after a long talk with the governor. Senator Walsh has heretofore been just as ardently opposed to Article X as any of us, but for the sake of Democratic harmony, he is now apparently willing to forget about it and try to induce the country to forget it by pushing other issues to the front.

"In connection with Chairman White's statement that 'progressivism is to be the paramount issue of the campaign,' I note that Mr. White announced that the Democratic committee will not restrict itself to $1,000 contribution, as announced by the Republicans, and that he said that any restriction was unbecome. I have misgivings as to whether our committee will agree with Mr. White. At any rate, it will be regarded as a queer sort of progressivism, this of poking fun at a sincere effort to limit the amount of campaign contributions.

Campaign Expenses Have Increased.

"The Republican management has undertaken in all good faith to raise a truly popular campaign fund. It is believed that this will be accomplished and if so it will be a most notable advance in political management. It is true that with the number of voters substantially doubled by reason of woman suffrage and with the great increase in expense of campaigning, a great deal of money will be required to carry an effective appeal to the people. Nevertheless, the Republicans have undertaken to raise the money in small amounts by popular subscription. They hope to succeed.

"The Democratic front any suggestion and at the very outset of the campaign proclaim that they have no intention of attempting such a reform. They will describe before election day that the electorate is not prepared to approve their program of unlimited campaign funds. Undoubtedly it is quite true that certain powerful international interests which are deeply concerned in carrying out the present administration's foreign policy are prepared to contribute most liberally to the Democratic funds. Undoubtedly it is true, too, that without such contributions the Democrats will find it very difficult to raise the funds they need. Popular campaign funds are not easily raised for unpopular causes and the efforts to hitch America to the present administration's program constitutes anything but a popular cause."

"See You in Washington," Gov. Cox Tells Daytonian

Dayton, Ohio, July 30.—Believing that he would be elected president was expressed by Governor Cox today in an address at the "home coming" celebration here over his nomination to the Democratic party.

After standing two hours under burning sun reviewing a parade of civic, fraternal, industrial and other organizations, variously estimated to contain from 8,000 to 12,000 marchers, crowds stormed the reviewing stand and insisted upon a brief address from the guest of honor.

Thanking his audience for the testimonial from the men, women and children, with whom he had lived for 20 years, Governor Cox said:

"I just said to a gentleman from Washington that it would appear to be a reflection of one's judgment to desire to leave Dayton and live in any other place. Yet somehow I have a feeling that I am going to reside in the house which you, yourselves own. As the future tenant of those premises, I promise to take good care of it."

Invites Friends to Washington.

To another crowd of admirers who almost crushed the governor and Mr. Cox as they left the reviewing stand and forced them to take shelter in the county jail building, Governor Cox said jokingly:

"I invite you all to come to see me in Washington."

The governor's brief addresses were not scheduled among the day's events. The governor left Trailside library to review the parade in the midst of completion of his address for August 7 accepting the Democratic nomination; the address he said would surely to the printer tomorrow for advance circulation to newspapers to tomorrow night.

The parade today was the crowning event of the non-political demonstration by the governor's home folks.

"It was Jimmy Cox's day in Dayton for the thousands who packed the parade route, released by the holiday declared generally to honor their citizen first honored with a presidential nomination.

"Hello, Jimmy," was the salutation shouted at the governor by hundreds of the paraders. "Three cheers for Jimmy," and "Hi, Jimmy, I'll see you in the White House," were other greetings.

Cox Responds to Greetings.

The governor, waving a soggy handkerchief and applauding each group, responded in kind.

"Hello, Buck," and "Hello there, Peter," "Hello Ike," and "How are you, Charlie," were among the greetings the governor shouted back to the marchers as he pointed out many old-time friends.

"I have seen men who have followed my standard for 12 years who gave me confidence in 1908," said the governor in his brief address, "I am prouder to have held it than to have inspired it at the outset. It shall be my aim at all times to justify the confidence you have evidenced this afternoon."

"Jimmy" Cox also was the keynote of many banners on parade floats and marchers' banners.

NEW U. S. RACING MONOPLANE CAN FLY 200 MILES AN HOUR

Garden City, July 30.—A monoplane, one of the three official American entrants in the Gordon Bennett cup races, to be flown September 25 to October 2 near Paris, was christened by Mrs. S. E. J. Cox, of Houston, Texas, here today. It is entered by the Aero Club of Texas to compete with planes from the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy, on a course of 186 miles.

A speed "considerably more than 200 miles an hour," said to be the fastest time for any airplane yet built in this country, was announced following tests of this monoplane.

The plane is said to be of radical design throughout, with a one-piece body and a 400-horse power motor. Test flights have been held daily since July 25.

SCRANTON FINALLY VICTORIOUS

Win 11 Inning Battle from Cubs 7 to 6—Game Full of Excitement from Start to Finish—Delanson Here Today.

In a game that was full of climaxes and anti climaxes from one end to the other the fast Scranton inter county team defeated Weidman's Cubs yesterday afternoon at Leahwa park after 11 hard fought innings. The game was never safe, although it looked at various times as if one side and then the other had a decided advantage; one that could not be worked off, but as in often the way of the national sport, things do not always go as they are planned. Because of the excitement throughout the game the crowd hardly noticed that the game was, as regards time, one of the longest ever played here, but most of this was due to disputes and quarrels on the part of both players and fans. If any one can be said to stand out as a landmark in a game which was full of stunts, credit must be given to Brislina of the visiting outfit. He faced the Oneonta twirlers six times, was walked once and on each of the other occasions hit safely for a total of eight bases, although his homer should have been good for only two sacks had there not been a convenient opening in the center field fence which allowed his drive to roll under. In the field he was equally disastrous to the local gang. He accepted six chances without a slip, stealing fly balls which belonged to left and right fielders.

After McGeehan had put up a fly for an out, Shean was passed, went to second when Brislina hit directly over second sack for a single and scored on Higgins' double to left, which hit put Brislina on third with but one out. McGeehan drove the ball to Duval, who returned it to the plate, retiring Brislina. Morris put up a fly to Boylan and the inning was over.

McGeehan, in the third, doubled to center, was put on third by Shean's sacrifice which Kinnere let get by him. Shean stole second. Brislina hit a hard drive to Kinnere which was so hot it couldn't be handled, but bounded into foul territory, scoring McGeehan. Shean tried to come in on the play, but was caught at the plate and Tyrone pegged the ball to second, catching Brislina before he could arrive. This double play certainly was very timely. Higgins grounded.

This was all of the scoring the visitors did until the eighth. Shean was granted a pass by Kibbe and Brislina picked out one which looked good to him and poked it into center. Boylan misjudged the fly and as it hit the ground it took a bound toward the fence and by some freak chance rolled under the boards at a convenient opening, allowing two runs to come in, whereas the best Brislina should have had was a double. Kibbe fanned the next pair and the following batter grounded.

In the third with one down, Dempsey singled to third, stole second and continued on to third as the catcher heaved wild. Kibbe took a slant at one, connected with it for a fly into left which looked good for more bases, but Brislina, after apparently misjudging it, got one hand on it tightly for an out, but it was an out to some advantage for Dempsey scored on it, trying the score.

The Cubs took the lead in the sixth. Tyrone, first up, singled to right. Dempsey tried to sacrifice, but succeeded in beating out the throw. Kibbe also beat out an attempted sacrifice. Tyrone made an unsuccessful effort to score on the throw to first. Borlaas was passed and at this stage of the game Higgins was put in the box. Duba, hitting for Kinnere, put up a fly to second for the first out of a double, Kibbe being caught in a run up.

From then until the ninth the Klip-nickie men were in the lead. In this inning Scranton tied up the game. After one had died, Kibbe walked Gault and hit Marian with a pitched ball. McGeehan doubled to center, scoring Gault and putting Marian on third. Shean drove a grounder to Duval, who promptly sent it to the plate, catching Marian. Brislina was walked and the sacks were loaded, but Higgins hit a liner to Duval.

The tenth saw both sides blanked. The disastrous inning was the eleventh. Gault was passed, sacrificed to second, went to third on McGeehan's hit, the latter going to second on the throw in. Shean fanned. Brislina came up and drove his fifth hit out, scoring both men, but he was caught in a run up for the third out.

Oneonta started to stage a come back in their portion of the frame, but were only partially successful. Duval, first up, hit a triple to center. F. Weeks doubled to left, scoring Duval. Baird attempted to sacrifice, but put up a foul fly which Gault took into his possession for the first out of the inning. Marone hit a grounder to third for the second out. Tyrone singled to center and apparently the score was again tied, but Weeks was caught at the plate.

Delanson will be the opponent today.

COLLAPSE OF EXCHANGE IS CHECK TO MARKET

Tendency Among Representative Issues, However, Is Mainly Upward Until Final Hour

New York, July 30.—Further collapse of international exchange served as a decided check to bullish enthusiasm in the stock market today, although the tendency among the representatives including rails, was upward until the final hour, a heavy tone ruling at the end.

There was constant pressure upon such industrial as rubber, leather and other low-priced specialties, shorts resuming their attacks against those issues on more adverse trade reports. Net losses in these and kindred issues ranged from 1 to almost 2 points, oils and steels also giving way.

The market was sustained during the greater part of the day by the comparative ease of call money, much of which was loaned and renewed into next week at eight per cent. Increasing belief in an early advance of railroad rates was another sentimental factor.

Exchange on London was again most affected by the general decline in foreign remittances, sterling demand failing to within a fraction of $3.74 to the pound, with concurrent weakness of rates to other allied centers. A large part of the British bills represented, according to reports, exports of foodstuffs and cotton.

Bankers were not altogether in accord with the opinion of Governor Harding, of the Federal Reserve board, relative to easier credit conditions. Advances from agricultural sections were mainly to the effect that plenty of money is available here for crop moving purposes.

Forecasts of tomorrow's clearinghouse statement indicated a correction of last week's deficit of actual reserves, mainly as a result of the week's liquidation of the stock market.

Bonds, including Liberty and International issues, were irregular. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

OLD DAYS OF THE CIRCUS

Of course there were circuses as long ago as runs the memory of the oldest inhabitant, and along with them menageries of greater or less size, though some of them as large as those which in these days are shown. And also, then as now the small boy in the circus town was awake before day-break and on the street watching the show come in, the wagons unloaded, the tents erected and later the marvel of the street parade with its panoplied steeds, its queens of the ring and of the air, all a-horseback; its awkwardly lumbering camels, its bands perched atop of cages, though possibly with one great chariot for the lead, its elephant or two, shows in those days were less lavish of elephants; its open cage with the tamer or tameresses of lions and serpents in the seat of danger, and at the end the steam piano discoursing semblances of melody. In the lead—however could it have been overlooked—was that splendid figure of a man seated on the handsomest horse the circus claimed. How the boys used to envy that leader of the parade, more even than the tall drum major, and how much it seemed the very pinnacle of joy to lead, presumably as sole proprietor, that mile-long, even if somewhat detached, parade!

These were the things which happened fifty years ago, and from such brief recapitulation it appears that these externals of the circus have not changed much in half a century. The things which the boy saw then, the boy sees now, or would have seen yesterday had the circus arrived in time, and the features are duplicated rather than increased in variety. There were no herds of elephants, but there were elephants singly or a pair of them; there were no droves of camels, but there were camels, and the smaller number as source of instruction doubtless was as valuable; there were fewer rings in the circus, but the acts were very alike, fewer clowns, but everybody watched the antics of the one; fewer performers, but the attention of the spectator was not so much distracted. And always there was the pink lemonade gullible enough of sugar to justify itself even in these days of scarcity, and the boy with the palm leaf fans, and at the end the grand concert to which for the small sum of ten cents everybody was urged to stir, "occupying the reserved seats in front of the platform."

One thing, however, was essentially different. In the days of the '60's there was no railway transportation of circuses, and of necessity the "jumps" were shorter. A show at Cooperstown one day might be at Schenectady the next and at Oneonta and Sidney the day after, since the distance was limited to the traveling power of draft horses.

This overland route of the circus was a delight to the farm lads along the way, who watched as boys now do at the railway station when the lumbering vans, stripped of their gorgeous bedeckments, and the circus steeds released by their high birth and breeding from menial duty, and the show animals such as the elephants and camels and more or less sacred cow and other beasts that went a-foot. There are other things to delight the eye nowadays, but to the old boys, even the oldest of Klip-nockle boys, what is there so entrancing as were these days of the circus? That was the way that Barnum's and Forepaugh's traveled—and the names still remain to conjure with.

Always in those days, the afternoon was the time of the big performance, since the farm folk left the scythe and cradle, if in summer, or the plow, drag and hoe if in springtime, hitched the farm team to the democrat wagon, crowded in the whole family and was off for town. Be sure he arrived in time for the grand parade, and equally that the big wagon was loaded with its human freight and was off for home by five o'clock, just as soon as the afternoon performance was over, for it was a long ride and the cows were to be milked, the pigs fed and the other "chores" attended to. Nowadays, while the afternoon is still perhaps the favorite, the farmer or dairyman can do up the farm work and the milking, take the wheel of his trusty auto, speed away twenty or thirty miles for the evening show, and get home and to bed before midnight.

As for the packing up of the circus and its getting away, the country boy knew nothing of it, though perhaps it would have been as great a marvel. But he had to go home, and if perchance by favor he was allowed to stay over night with a town cousin, daily he asserted itself, and he was willing to go home before the first laden, four-or-six-horse van was away for another town. But for all that, the one big longing of the country boy was the night show, at which the faring oil lamps to one who never had heard of electric lights or much about gas, would have seemed the very crown of glory in illumination.

Times, indeed, do change, but not to great extent as would have been imagined, the circus its delights are enduring, and the boy enjoys it just as

THE SHORTAGE OF CARS
 The West is seriously interfering with the movement of grain, says James S. Brown, manager of transportation, Chicago board of trade. "The grain dealers all over the map and especially the managers of elevators throughout the grain states have been doing everything possible to prevent the case emphatically, we ask that the grain trade, the commercial clubs and farmers' organizations keep on demanding their quota of cars of the interstate commerce commission."

"We certainly should have cars enough to move the grain on the farms before the new crop begins to come in."

"The commission has now ruled that because of a shortage of equipment and congestion of traffic, as grated by unfavorable labor conditions, an emergency exists which requires immediate action with respect to the distribution and relocation of box cars from eastern and southeastern territory to the West."

"It is cheering to state that commencing May 25, the interstate commerce commission has ordered the eastern roads to deliver six hundred empty box cars in good condition, suitable for grain shipments each day for thirty days. This order is good as far as it goes, but will alleviate the situation only temporarily at best."

"What the outcome of the matter will be is problematical, but it is to the interest of all concerned that the railroads should have sufficient funds to order the immense number of new cars demanded and also to allow them to operate their repair departments to their fullest capacity."

REFUSED TO ABANDON GAME

Plucky Terrier Died With Fox It Had Run to Earth and Killed in Combat

What is believed to be an unprecedented end to a combat between a fox and a terrier is reported from the Lake country.

A stout hill fox hunted by the Blencathra hounds for three and a half hours on the mountain heights above St. John's-in-the-Vale sought sanctuary in a fissure of rock in a crack near the skyline of Wanthwaite. Here he faced one of the gamiest terriers belonging to the pack and, scrambling to a shelf in the rocks, was able for some time to give as fierce punishment as he got.

The terrier killed the fox, but refused to leave it and followed and hounds had at last to quit the chase so that they might make the descent of one of the most dangerous ravines of the mountain range before darkness. When huntsman and alp returned next morning to the crag they found the fox as well as fox lying dead outside the bannan.

An examination of the terrier showed that the fox had inflicted no mortal wound upon him. The terrier had dragged the fox out and then, loth to leave it, had laid down beside it. It was clear that he had died from exposure during a bitterly cold night. No similar case has so far as is known, occurred before.—London Times.

much as his sire or grandsire did, and the latter two in fact renew their youth when it comes to town, and perhaps in their secret souls they wonder, just as much as the boy does, whether there will be a "show" again next year.

Apocryph of menageries, elephants and ancient reminiscence—there is still resident in Oneonta, and not of an age at which perhaps anybody except Dr. Osler would consider the happy dispatch necessary, who recalls that his grandmother told him that in the first decade of the nineteenth century she saw the first elephant which was brought for circus purposes to America. She was a resident of Dutchess county, and the elephant, which was showing in the lower Hudson river counties and in Connecticut, was to pass through Milan on its way to Rhinebeck. The boys and girls were all out to see the strange beast by early morning light and for fear that they would not have time enough for due inspection, one of the boys—it was in the fall—ran home for a peck of sweet apples. These, when he saw the elephant coming, he scattered in the road. The elephant came along, stopped, investigated and proceeded to collect; and there was no more going ahead of that elephant until the last apple had been secured. "My," said the old lady, telling the story in her last years, "how that elephant man did swear!"

LEAVES BRAIN TO SCIENCE

Dr. Joseph Simms, Interested in Anatomical Research, Makes Novel Bequest

New York.—Dr. Joseph Simms, who died at the age of eighty-six, willed his brain to science.

Dr. Edward Anthony Spitzka, who has studied the brains of many noted men, removed Doctor Simms' brain. He will preserve and study it.

Doctor Simms was connected with the medical department of New York university. He was friend of Darwin and Huxley and much interested in anatomical research. Seventeen years ago he was informed by Doctor Spitzka that it was desirable from the viewpoint of anatomists that men should leave their brains to medical institutions.

Thereupon Doctor Simms drew up his will and bequeathed his brain to Doctor Spitzka. One provision of the will requested members of his family to notify Doctor Spitzka of his death.

Goodness.

The world is not suffering for new ideas so much as for the brave and faithful living of some very old ideas. Truth, justice, honor, and unselfishness are not new, but they are all rare in our common daily intercourse. We can better do without genius than without goodness. The cultivated heart is better.

Two Dog Licenses This Month.

The last census of dogs in the city was taken on July 1st and 342 dogs were reported to be owned by residents. Of this list a comparatively small number have been registered and are wearing their license tags. In round numbers 140 dogs are still unregistered and there has been but two dogs registered in the past month, which shows that this law is not taken as seriously as it should be. The names of all dog owners who fail to comply will be taken to the city jail and then sent to the constable for collection. One point which is not understood very fully by the public is that if they have obtained possession of a dog at some time during the year they are not required to pay the full amount but that it will decrease each month. For the past month it has been $2.00 while next month only $1.84 will be required.

Dismissed From the Hospital.

Jarvis Sargent, the D. & H. engineer who suffered a serious accident in the local yards some time ago and has been in the Fox Memorial hospital for the past three weeks recovering from an amputation of the injured foot, returned to his home at 304 Chestnut street yesterday. His many friends will be glad to learn that he is making a good recovery.

What Dad Said:

My Son, I don't want you to be a miser nor to pile up money for money's sake alone, but while young, vigorous and able to earn money, if you don't save a portion, wisely invest it at compound interest and learn how money earns money, while you sleep and without hard toil, you will probably be one of the 80 out of every 100 people who are looked down upon and called underlings, in the lean, weary years of misfortune, sickness, loss of a job or old age. Son, I've had to live long years to learn this and in following my advice you'll be called a tightwad by a thoughtless mob of people who don't think and are jealous of those who get ahead of them. Pay no attention to this jealous human Pail Parrot chatter, that also calls an honest and good church worker a hypocrite, in order to put him back to their own level. Son, from your bright and hopeful view of life, you can't understand this, but don't forget that money, rightly used, is a blessing to all and that the day will come when you'll think that dad was a true friend and good fellow. Say: there are a lot of dads in Oneonta who also ought to talk to their daughters in this same way and to them now, along this same line. Uncle Sam and the state has helped me to safely combine and roll small amounts up to several million dollars, for homes and farms and that I am still on the job. I am now starting another bunch of little fellows to roll up half a million more. By safely investing at compound interest, in first mortgages on improved real estate, the safest security known. There are over 3,000 people in Oneonta who know of the good work that I am doing; and say, dad, if you tell that dear little girl of yours about me, it may save her from being an underling and from taking in washings for a living later, as we got 12 good, sound and unselfish old dads to help me look out for her. I am the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association. It

HAD MANY GOOD FEATURES

Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, Last in Arriving, Omaha Street Parade, but Offers Two Creditable Exhibitions—Some Features Excellent.

Yesterday afternoon and evening, the first big circus of the season to visit Oneonta, the Hagenbeck-Wallace aggregation, gave two well attended and successful performances at Neahwa park, the side shows and other minor attractions also securing much attention from the crowds of Oneontans and people from the nearby towns and villages. Ideal circus weather played no small part in making the day enjoyable.

Owing to unavoidable delay in transportation, the cars containing the equipment, menagerie, etc., which were scheduled to arrive in Oneonta by daylight did not arrive in the yards until 10:30, making it impossible to hold the customary street parade and thereby disappointing the waiting crowds on Main street. In spite of the delay, however, the usual juvenile audience and many adults were on hand to witness the unloading at the station.

A fair crowd was on the grounds by 2 o'clock, the time scheduled for the afternoon opening, but was forced to content itself with the drinking of soft stuff, the consumption of edibles, and the viewing of the minor features until 5 o'clock when the afternoon opening which had been delayed by the same cause, commenced.

The first number was a parade accompanied by a band and led by a Ford, the property of the Oneonta Sales Company, bearing a banner on which was printed, "And a Little Ford Shall Lead Them," a novel advertising scheme which attracted much attention from the crowd.

The big tent contained three rings, the middle one of which was devoted to animals who displayed in their acts much intelligence and excellent training. The more noteworthy of the animal numbers were a demonstration by an elephant and a tiger, the former's natural enemy, and the completion of various formations and stunts by a group of lions, both of which attracted much applause from the audience. Great equestrian ability was displayed by numerous riders in several acts, an interesting number being cleverly executed by horses with riders who danced to the music of the band. The remainder of the time was occupied by contortionists, acrobats and trapeze artists, not forgetting the ever present clowns who kept the audience in an uproar of merriment with their horse play, clown band which evoked weird sounds from their instruments, the bull fight wherein a donkey was disguised as a bull, and other amusing and ridiculous stunts. The afternoon closed with a wild west show during which excellent marksmanship riding and rope throwing were displayed.

No little interest was displayed by those passing in and out in the extensive menagerie, the elephants especially attracting much attention and were fed peanuts by the bagful.

Snack Tables at Work.

During the progress of the ball game yesterday afternoon at Neahwa park, thieves, assumed to be employees of the circus, visited at least three of the motor cars left standing outside the grounds and lifted robes and coats therefrom. From the car of Stanley Mulkins they took two valuable robes and a nearly crumpled coat of Mr. Mulkins. From the car of C. W. Stever of Schenectady they took one robe and a raincoat, while from a third they took a robe. The thieves were reported to the police but at a late hour last night no trace of the missing articles had been found. It was feared that they had become hidden away with the stuff loaded on the cars of the circus.

Planning Labor Day Celebration.

The various labor organizations of the city will take up the matter of cooperating in the proposed Labor day celebration at their next regular meetings, and at a later date, probably next week, a meeting will be called for further consideration. It is not likely that any meeting will be held this evening, but ample notice will be given of the one next week.

INCREASED PRICE FOR GAS.

Advance Does Not Cover All of Advanced Costs to Company.

Increases in the cost of coal and oil, ranging from 50 to 60 percent are given as reasons for the local Gas & Electric company filing a new rate of $2.25 per thousand cubic feet for gas. The new rate which is an increase of $1.25 per cent from the present rate of $1.00 will be filed on August 1, effective September 1, and consumers will be billed at the new rate on October 1.

"The advance in our rate is not sufficient to cover the increased cost of raw materials and labor used in the manufacture of the gas," said Superintendent P. R. Chambers today. "It is actually costing the company 49 cents per thousand cubic feet more today for fuel, oil and labor than it did two years ago when the present rate went into effect. This figure does not include the increased cost of distribution, office salaries and expenses, etc., which bring the total up to a much higher figure."

"Were it not for the fact that our company, due to many years of friendly relations with coal companies, is in a way protected as to price on some of the coal which we use, we should have to ask for a much greater advance. The soft coal which we use for boiler fuel is costing $10.04 a ton in our bins, while the market price today is from $10.00 to $12.25 at the mines plus freight of $2.05 to $2.25 per ton."

"The market condition as to gas oil, which is used to enrich the gas, and of which thousands of gallons are used monthly, is very serious. The price at the present time averages 14c per gallon in comparison with 9c per gallon in 1918, while reliable oil companies will not enter into new contracts for future delivery."

"The new rate will not give the company additional net revenue or profit but is filed solely for the purpose of meeting part of the increased cost of the raw materials and labor needed for producing the gas."

"From the foregoing it will be noted that the company will absorb part of the increased costs of production and all of the increased cost of distribution, office salaries and expenses, etc."

BOY SCOUTS DELIGHTED

With Announcement, That They Are to Have Stay in Camp at Goodyear's.

Announcement in The Star of yesterday that the Boy Scout council had arranged a summer camp for them was greeted with much enthusiasm by the boys who had about despaired of having the experience this year, although assurance had been given that it would be provided. The location of the lands of Mr. Hoyt at Cliffield, where tents are to be pitched, is looked upon with favor by the boys and they are looking forward to an enjoyable week.

Members of the Scouts in good standing who wish to attend the camp are requested to call at the office of Chamber of Commerce and register, giving their names, residences, etc. In order that only such boys are taken as will display an interest and will make good campers those who go are required to pay $2.50 each, a sufficient sum to manifest interest but meeting only a part of the expense which will be met by men interested in the boys and the success of the project. It is important that all who wish to go should register as early as possible, in order that it may be known how many to provide for and whether it will be necessary to make provision for one week or two.

It is planned to have the first group go into camp Monday, August 9, and if there be found a sufficient number to continue the camp the second week they will follow a week later. The camp will be well supplied with tents and edibles and it is planned to make the week one that the Scouts will long remember.

To Our Gas Customers

On August 1st a new rate of $2.25 per thousand cubic feet for gas will be filed; effective September 1st, bills being rendered at the new rate on October 1st.

This represents an increase of 40c per thousand cubic feet and is the first increase in two years, although during this two year period the costs of raw materials, labor, etc., used in the production of gas, have been steadily rising.

The following Statement briefly shows present conditions—

Increased Manufacturing Costs of Gas

	Present Price	Cost in 1918	$3.74 per ton Increase	$2,554.42 Increase per annum	11c Increased cost per thousand cu. ft of gas
Boiler Coal	$10.04 per ton	$6.20 per ton
Generator Coal	9.15 per ton	6.11 per ton	3.04 per ton	2,349.92	10½c

Labor				600.00	3c
Totals				$11,095.38	49½c

From the foregoing it will be noted that the actual increase in the commodities indicated amount to 49½c per thousand cubic feet, which figure does not include the cost of maintenance at the gas plant and of mains, meters and services, nor does it include distribution expenses, office salaries and expenses, etc., all of which items show material increases during the past two years.

Banker Leaves Small Estate.

In the estate of the late James L. Clark, late of Sidney and a former president of the Sidney National bank, Surrogate McNaughton of Delaware county has issued letters of administration to Edith M. Clark, the widow. According to the inventory filed, the estate is estimated at $5,125 real and $7,500 personal. The wife and one son are the heirs to the estate. No will has been found. The size of the estate will cause some surprise where he was best known. His holding of shares of the Sidney National bank was comparatively small, he having 31 shares and being at the time of his death the largest stockholder of that institution.

To Address Missionary Workers.

At the anniversary of the Women's Foreign Missionary society on the Sidney camp ground Monday evening, August 2, the speaker will be Mrs. Camphor. She is an exceptionally fine speaker and the ladies of the society in Oneonta and about the district are urged to attend and hear her address.

Schoharie County Politics.

At a meeting of the Democratic county committee for Schoharie, held on Monday, the nomination of Assemblyman VanWagenen as a delegate to the state convention was defeated, only one vote being cast in his favor. It is stated that the course of the committee was influenced by the attitude of VanWagenen in regard to the seating of the Socialist members of the legislature last winter, his vote having been throughout cast in their favor. The county committee will meet August 7 at Schoharie for the purpose of suggesting candidates for assembly, sheriff and district attorney.

Name New President.

Judge Hill's Prediction.

Hon. James P. Hill of Norwich was one of the secondaries of the nomination of Nathan L. Miller for governor at the unofficial Republican State convention at Saratoga last week. Mr. Hill predicted that with Miller in the field the normal Republican majority in the southern tier, which is 49,000, would be doubled. The seven Chenango delegates voted for Miller on each ballot.
